The UI String Quartet Residency Program continues a long tradition of fostering the highest level of string quartet playing and chamber music instruction at the University of Iowa. Each season, UISQRP brings internationally-recognized ensembles to the School of Music for extended residences. This model is the first of its kind and continues to generate a buzz on the national chamber music scene. During their stays on campus, guest artists work closely with SOM students and give a range of performances and presentations. In celebration of its 10th season, UISQRP is delighted to bring back UISQRP alumni and also artists from its first season.
